Directors' report

The directors present their annual report and the audited financial statements for the year ended 30 June 2009.

Principal activities

The Intermediary Mortgage Lenders Association (the 'association') provides administrative services to its members including regular meetings and briefings and acts as a focal point for dealing with other trade bodies, regulators and government in relation to mortgage lending via the intermediary market.

Business review

IMLA has continued to function effectively albeit in ever worsening conditions in the economy in general and the housing and mortgage market in particular. This has impacted upon member firms with some ceasing to trade altogether and others becoming inactive in terms of undertaking new lending business. This is a reflection of the global credit crunch, the closure of a number of funding markets and the decision to restrict access to government support to deposit taking lenders.

In terms of specific activities through the year the association has focussed on the following:

- Given the external context IMLA has worked closely with other trade bodies and sectors and in particular the Association of Mortgage Intermediaries, the Council of Mortgage Lenders and the Finance and Leasing Association. Our work with AMI continues though this has increasingly been dominated by funding issues and the future shape of the mortgage market.
- Developments in 2008/09 have meant the association has devoted considerable time to market and liquidity issues. IMLA has been in active discussion with government departments, the Bank of England and others regarding the role of the intermediary market and specialist lenders and the need to retain the full spectrum of lenders and products and to ensure continuing competitiveness in the mortgage market.
- IMLA has continued its regular meetings with the FSA. It has been an active contributor to the Home Finance Forum chaired by Lord Myners and was heavily involved in the development of the government's home owner mortgage support scheme.
- IMLA operates as an inclusive member focussed trade body with all members able to fully participate. The normal programme of meetings was maintained through the year with high levels of attendance and participation.
- IMLA maintained a high public profile in 2008/09 as measured by press coverage and the aim is to continue to build on that albeit with the focus on trade press and industry comment.

Market conditions have dominated the work of IMLA in the year and this will continue into 2009/10. IMLA has responded to changing circumstances in terms of refocusing its work and also by keeping close control of its budget. Clearly the coming year will be challenging for the market and members and for IMLA as a trade body. However the aim is to manage activity and budget to secure maximum output and effectiveness. IMLA will continue to seek new members across the intermediary based market not least to replace those firms that have ceased doing new business at the present time. It will also look to new activities and relationships. Directors have resolved to maintain current subscription levels and to continue to take forward the association as a trade body representing lenders who regardless of their product focus now represent the very cornerstone of the modern mortgage market.

The directors consider the development of the association in 2008/09 as broadly satisfactory given the difficult environment in which it is operating. They took the decision to utilise accumulated reserves to maintain the service to members despite the reduction in income. Looking forward and recognising the challenging environment which all trade bodies are now operating in, directors have put in place budget measures to manage the association through the current market downturn. IMLA is well placed to do this in terms of accumulated reserves and its strong and supportive core membership.
