Statement of directors' responsibilities in respect of the interim accounts

Company law requires the Directors to prepare interim accounts when a public company wishes to make a distribution where the distribution would be found to contravene the relevant section if reference were made only to the Company's last annual accounts

The interim accounts must have been properly prepared, or they must have been so prepared subject only to matters which are not material for determining, by reference to those mentioned in Section 270(2), whether the proposed distribution would contravene the relevant section

In preparing these interim accounts, the Directors are required to

- Select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently,
- Make judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent, and
- State whether applicable accounting standards have been followed, subject to any material departures disclosed and explained in the financial statements

The Directors are responsible for keeping proper accounting records which disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the Company and to enable them to ensure that the interim accounts comply with the Companies Act 1985. They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the Company and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities
