Report of the Trustees
for the year ended 31 March 2023

The trustees who are also directors of the charity for the purposes of the Companies Act 2006, present their report with the financial statements of the charity for the year ended 31 March 2023. The trustees have adopted the provisions of Accounting and Reporting by Charities: Statement of Recommended Practice applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102) (effective 1 January 2019).

OBJECTIVES AND ACTIVITIES

Objectives and aims

The foundation was set up for the following purposes:

- a) The relief of poverty.
- b) The promotion, maintenance, improvement and advancement of education for the public benefit.
- c) The provision of facilities for recreation or other leisure time occupations in the interests of social welfare provided that such facilities are for the public benefit
- d) The promotion of any other charitable purpose for the benefit of the public.

Public benefit

We are conscious the The Charities Act 2011 emphasises the requirement that all charities of every kind must be able to demonstrate that their work is of direct benefit to the public. We believe that the activities we fund through all our grants, covering a wide range of issues, which we categorise under arts and culture, education and media, environment, human and social rights and medical, are demonstrably of public benefit and ensure through our granting and further monitoring and evaluation that this is the case.

The principal objective of the charity is to support many issues and to achieve public benefit through the distribution of grants and social investments for public charitable purposes across the globe. These grants, focusing on small grassroots organisations at the heart of the community and larger established organisations, aim to deliver a real and lasting positive impact and change. In determining its grant making strategies and in the administration of the charity generally the trustees have paid due regard to Section 4 of the guidance published on public benefit and will continue to deliver grants as effectively and professionally as possible. It will also continue to raise awareness of many issues across the globe to achieve its mission to effect positive change.

Grantmaking

Grants made by The Foundation are at the discretion of The Board of Trustees. The Board considers making a grant and, if approved, notifies the intended recipient. Any funding commitments beyond one year are accrued accordingly within the year that the decision is made.

The Foundation makes grants to charitable and non-charitable organisations. Where grants are made to non-charitable organisations there are additional procedures undertaken by The Foundation so as to ensure that the recipient organisation utilises the intended grant for charitable purposes only and that these intentions are communicated to the recipient organisations.

To ensure The Foundation is meeting its objectives and to assess the effect and impact of The Foundation's grant making activities they undertake monitoring and evaluation in the form of 6 monthly reports for the duration of the project.

In the event that unsatisfactory reporting is received from a project, the trustees will consider any action that they wish to take to retrieve or amend future grant commitments.

ACHIEVEMENT AND PERFORMANCE

Charitable activities

The Roddick Foundation progressed its agenda during 2022/2023 by making significant grants totalling £1,533,419 to 55 organisations. Funding is given to groups working in the areas of arts and culture, environment, human rights and social rights.

All grants made have identified issues across the Foundation's overall mission statement.

Highlights of grants made during the financial year 2022/2023 include:

Arts & Culture - £88,000

Outside In - The Roddick Foundation funding has helped with the core costs of running the charity and has enabled Outside In to further develop its national regional development. Core funding is vital to the longevity of OI, enabling it to carry out its charitable objectives and support some of society's most vulnerable groups. In 2022 Outside In launched their second regional hub, the North West Hub, in Manchester in partnership with Venture Arts and The Whitworth. The Hub supports artists at a local level to form their own artistic communities, while providing opportunities to get involved with our national programmes of work.

Clod Ensemble - With the support of The Roddick Foundation's grant, Clod Ensemble has maximised the opportunity to roll out their Cultural Social Prescribing Workforce Training Programme with the support of a Producer contracted for 3 months with a 2 month extension. With the Producer in place, they have delivered work in Hackney and in the priority Boroughs of Enfield and Brent. This funding has also allowed the Executive Producer of Performing Medicine to devote time to nurturing new partnerships with NHS Trusts.

Education - £115,500

Black Mountains College - The core funding from The Roddick Foundation has been critical in helping Black Mountains College cover the gap between fees and running costs as they scale up their operations and has helped them to consolidate the core team that is growing their offerings and their impact. Black Mountains College's aim is to 'teach the future' and prepare people for an era of ecological and social disruption, and they do this through three strands of education: short courses, further education and higher education all geared towards promoting climate action, climate adaptation and climate justice.

Children On The Edge - The Roddick Foundation's grant has been used to provide a salary for the Founder and Head of the Herat Online School for Afghani children. Since opening in 2021 the school has made a substantial impact for thousands of girls and boys. Herat Online School is critical, impactful and very much sought after particularly as the Taliban has continuously rolled back on women's rights since they retook power in August 2021, including reneging on a promise to reopen high schools in March 2022, then indefinitely banning women from universities in December 2022.

Environment - £266,240

Landworkers' Alliance - The grant from The Roddick Foundation has enabled the Landworkers' Alliance (LWA) to put together a book which marks their 10th anniversary. The publication is designed to act as a diverse, powerful and beautiful contextualisation of the movement. It raises issues such as access to land, the importance of seed sovereignty, gender and landwork, as well as the ecological and social imperative of creating a better food and landwork system by working in harmony with nature. The book also places LWA's work within the context of the wider international agroecology and peasant movement.

Stop Ecocide - The funding from Roddick has been a contribution towards vital running costs of the leadership and core Stop Ecocide International communications, coordination and technical teams, and also towards key international events such as COP27, diplomatic roundtables and meetings they have convened. This funding has allowed Stop Ecocide to be instrumental in driving the global conversation about ecocide.

Human Rights - £245,680

Prisoners' Education Trust - Funding from The Roddick Foundation has enabled 22 learners, aged between 22 and 59, held in prisons across England, Wales, the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man to access a range of academic and vocational courses.

Safe Passage - The Roddick Foundation's grant has been used on Safe Passage's Ukraine Response project - bringing together legal advice, advocacy and capacity building activity. The scheme has been reaching a lot of people especially women and children, and Safe Passage is doing more outreach to especially vulnerable groups eg: third party and other nationals caught up in the conflict, and Roma. So far 245 have been helped at the clinic; 32 have been issued a UK visa (not all wanted one) and 21 have arrived in UK.

Indigenous Rights - £298,202

Native American Community Board - Funding from The Roddick Foundation helped the Native American Community Board to build a new home for their organization. Not only did it help to pay for the construction of the new building but because of the generosity of The Roddick Foundation they were able to meet their goal of full funding for the building. This means that they do not have any kind of a mortgage hanging over their heads and for a community-based reservation-based organization this is a huge relief and funds raised can all go on services and program work.

Social Rights - £519,797

Abortion Access Front - Funding from The Roddick Foundation has supported Abortion Access Front's Operation Save Abortion activist training programme. OpSave is filling a considerable need in the dark days after the fall of Roe - their kick-off event was a dynamic day of connection and learning for folks newly inspired to fight for abortion and bodily autonomy, and the resulting training sessions continue to inform and inspire large new audiences, resulting in better informed abortion access allies. By enabling reproductive rights supporters to learn directly from the leaders on the ground who do this work every day, they are better equipping thousands of people to make a meaningful and lasting commitment to abortion activism. And by vetting and placing these new volunteers, AAF is providing a service that their partners desperately need, but don't have the capacity to do themselves.

Solid State Community Society - The funding from The Roddick Foundation has been used to help Solid State Community with its international expansion plan - building a cohort in Gaza and then using that as a template to seed other cohorts. The first stage of the process has gone incredibly well and work is now commencing on the second stage and they are looking forward to seeing the results.

Uplift - The Roddick Foundation's grant has been used to support the coordination of the coalition of organisations that are a part of the Warm This Winter campaign and the implementation of campaign activities. The Warm This Winter campaign has had a range of successes and impacts in line with the campaign's goals of building public and political support for clean, affordable energy in the UK. A mass lobby organized by Warm This Winter in February involved 89 separate lobbies being organized across the country in which people met with their local MPs to discuss the need for reform of the energy system, as well as 3,000 people emailing their MPs.

Fundraising activities

Section 162a of the Charities Act 2011 requires charities to make a statement regarding fundraising activities. Although we do not undertake widespread fundraising from the general public, the legislation defines fund raising as "soliciting or otherwise procuring money or other property for charitable purposes." Such amounts receivable are presented in our accounts as "voluntary income" and include legacies and grants.

In relation to the above we confirm that all solicitations are managed internally, without involvement of commercial participators or professional fund-raisers, or third parties. The day to day management of all income generation is delegated to the executive team, who are accountable to the trustees.

The charity is not bound by any undertaking to be bound by any regulatory scheme and the charity does not consider it necessary to comply with any voluntary code of practice.

We have received no complaints in relation to fundraising activities. Our terms of employment require staff to behave reasonably at all times; as we do not approach individuals for funds we do not have particularise this to fundraising activities nor do we consider it necessary to design specific procedures to monitor such activities.

FINANCIAL REVIEW

Financial position

In 2007, the majority of the funding was received from Mr T G and the late Dame A L Roddick. Of the amounts received £30m was intended to be invested to generate income and that the income would be the annual resource of the Foundation for gifting.

The Foundation continues to be reliant on its income from its investments, which amounted to £314,465 in the current year (2022 - £267,702). To reflect the intentions of the endowment gift, the Foundation has invested a portion of the funds received in medium term investments in order to generate sufficient annual income to make grant payments whilst benefiting from capital growth. The Trustees are pleased with the performance of the investment portfolio during 2022/23 given the economic circumstances prevailing.

In addition to these investments, the Foundation keeps sufficient monies on current and deposit bank accounts to enable grant payments to be made as and when they fall due.

Other income with regard to book royalties received from the late Anita Roddick's publishing company of £182 have been received in the financial year. Expenditure of £1,693,238 was spent on charitable activity, governance and administration of the Foundation.

FINANCIAL REVIEW

Investment policy and objectives

Introduction

The Roddick Foundation was registered 18 March 1997 with a £30,000,000 expendable endowment from Mr T G and the late Dame A L Roddick. This document is to provide policy and guidance on how the fund is to be managed.

Purpose

The charitable objective of the Foundation is the promotion of any charitable purpose for the benefit of the community, including relief of poverty, advancement of education and social welfare. The Foundation has specialised in the following core fields:

- Human Rights
- Health
- Environment
- Social
- Humanitarian
- The Arts

The Foundation makes grants to organisations working in pursuit of these objectives. The Foundation aims to distribute approximately £1,500,000 per year. The Trustees have agreed that The Foundation's grant-making is not limited to the income generated from investments and will spend down the Fund at approximately the current level of expenditure.

Investment objectives

- To generate annual total returns (from both capital growth and income) in line with the target returns of the investment profile selected;
- The portfolio is to be managed within the risk parameters appropriate to the investment profile selected and should adopt a suitable level of diversification;
- The investment manager should ensure that sufficient liquidity is maintained to fund the Foundation's annual distributions when required; and
- The portfolio should adhere to the ethical guidelines communicated by the Trustee.

Current Investment Profile

The portfolio is managed by Coutts using their Tailored Portfolio Service.

The portfolio is to adopt a balanced profile.

- The target range of returns for a balanced profile is from 4.5% to 6.5% per annum.

Risk Management

The Trustees have currently mandated a risk tolerant attitude to risk, which is category 5 on the Coutts Risk Rating scale (CRR). CRR 5 implies volatility of 5-15% returns pa.

Investment Time Horizon

The trustees are prepared for the Investment Manager to adopt a 5 to 8 year time horizon with regular annual reviews. The investment approach can be changed in the meantime if circumstances require.

Social, Ethical and Environmental Policy

The Foundation stands for the highest ethical standards, which must be applied to the managers' investment strategy. In short, they should contain:

Negative screening

- Companies whose revenue is generated by the extraction and combustion of fossil fuels;
- Companies whose revenue is generated by trading in armaments and tobacco;
- Companies whose revenue is generated by developing GM crops; and
- The following companies are to be excluded as a result of concerns over their supply chains - Tesco and Walmart.

Reporting and monitoring

The management of the fund has been delegated to Coutts Bank. The performance and investment regime will be reviewed annually with UK representatives of the Trustees, Foundation staff and representatives of Coutts.

Investment summary for the 12 months ending 31 March 2023

It will come as no surprise that 2022 was challenging for the portfolio. Notwithstanding this, in the 12 months to 31st March 2023, the portfolio held up well in relative terms, down 1.75%, compared to a fall of 5.78% for the benchmark.

2022 was dominated by three major stories:

- The Russia/Ukraine conflict
- China's zero tolerance Covid policy
- Central bank policy

Russia/Ukraine

The escalation of the conflict was unexpected and led to an initial market shock; however to put it in to context, there was more underperformance in stock markets before the conflict then there was in the immediate aftermath. Markets swiftly moved on to reacting to central bank tightening and China effectively shutting down.

This reaction could also be muted on the upside, with little potential return available from a conclusion to the conflict, Having said that, the worst case scenario could lead to an extreme reaction, though is certainly not the base case.

China's covid policy

In the first quarter of 2022, conditions looked promising in China. Chinese policy was turning in favour of supporting the real estate market, tech sector and foreign listings. Then Covid hit, and the country all but completely shut down. This led to market turmoil not only in Asia, but globally as the impact on consumers and supply chains, and therefore inflation, would be felt around the world.

In September, China began to reopen, and we saw a strong rally in emerging market equities for the following five months, as consumers came back on tap and supply chains began to ease.

Central bank policy

This was a concern from November 2021, and persisted throughout 2022. Inflationary pressures arising from a number of events such as Covid spending, rebound of consumers since the pandemic, rebound in manufacturing and resource requirements since economies reopened, fiscal support packages in relation to the pandemic, Chinese supply chain issues in China and the war in Ukraine, all led to inflation rising more steeply and stickily than participants had expected.

When inflation rises to this extent, central banks have to step in and raise rates. This has an impact on all aspects of our lives such as spending, borrowing, employment, manufacturing, disposable income, etc, which leads to concerns over economic slowdown and consumption.

Against the will of markets, central bank policy last year was to create enough of a shock to the system in order to slow down the global economy by raising rates aggressively. The employment market, however, was much more resilient than could have been expected, which spurred central banks further, with scarce guidance on when they would stop. This lack of clarity led to severe market swings, and at some point in the second quarter, there was simply no place to hide as bonds, equities, commodities, alternatives and even crypto currencies all sold off in tandem. The tech sector and other growth companies took on the most pain, as their premiums reflect growth at a lower cost of borrowing.

2023

This year, many of last year's headwinds are turning in to tailwinds. China has reopened, and we are approaching the peak of the tightening cycle. This does vary globally, with the UK likely to maintain a more hawkish interest policy as inflation has been more stubborn here; but bond markets are now pricing in most central banks beginning to ease policy by the end of the year.

Whilst recessionary indicators are still prevalent, they are weakening, and labour markets are still resilient. At some point the aggressive rate hikes will lead to an economic slowdown, but it is becoming increasingly likely that recession will be avoided.

Against this backdrop, the environment is much more supportive of equity markets this year as conditions begin to ease and certainty returns, meaning participants can start to look 12 months ahead, when the environment should be more sanguine. Furthermore, conditions are also supportive of bond markets, which should benefit from central bank easing.

Reserves policy

The free reserves of the Foundation at 31 March 2023 were £nil (2022 - £nil). The Trustees are able to draw funds from the expendable endowment fund to meet the operational needs and grant commitments made.

FUTURE PLANS

Human, environmental and social rights together with some funding of the arts and education will continue to be central in the future grants policy. The Roddick Foundation will carry on spending down some of its capital with the possibility of fully spending out over time.

In shaping the work of The Roddick Foundation the trustees will pay close attention to world events, particularly the urgent need to address climate and ecological breakdown as well as issues of human rights and social justice. The implications of polarisation between and within societies and ongoing economic uncertainty adds to the risk of financial instability and the creation of unpredictable effects on people and the environment.

STATEMENT OF TRUSTEES' RESPONSIBILITIES

The trustees (who are also the directors of The Roddick Foundation for the purposes of company law) are responsible for preparing the Report of the Trustees and the financial statements in accordance with applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice).

Company law requires the trustees to prepare financial statements for each financial year which give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the charitable company and of the incoming resources and application of resources, including the income and expenditure, of the charitable company for that period. In preparing those financial statements, the trustees are required to

- select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently;
- observe the methods and principles in the Charity SORP;
- make judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent;
- prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the charitable company will continue in business.

The trustees are responsible for keeping proper accounting records which disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the charitable company and to enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Companies Act 2006. They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the charitable company and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

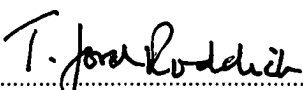

In so far as the trustees are aware:

- there is no relevant audit information of which the charitable company's auditors are unaware; and
- the trustees have taken all steps that they ought to have taken to make themselves aware of any relevant audit information and to establish that the auditors are aware of that information.

AUDITORS

The auditors, Xeinadin Auditing, will be proposed for re-appointment at the forthcoming Annual General Meeting.

Approved by order of the board of trustees on 4/7/23 and signed on its behalf by:

T G Roddick - Trustee

Report of the Independent Auditors to the Members of
The Roddick Foundation (Registered number: 03304866)

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of The Roddick Foundation (the 'charitable company') for the year ended 31 March 2023 which comprise the Statement of Financial Activities, the Balance Sheet and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies. The financial reporting framework that has been applied in their preparation is applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice).

In our opinion the financial statements:

- give a true and fair view of the state of the charitable company's affairs as at 31 March 2023 and of its incoming resources and application of resources, including its income and expenditure, for the year then ended;
- have been properly prepared in accordance with United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice; and
- have been prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Companies Act 2006.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK) (ISAs (UK)) and applicable law. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements section of our report. We are independent of the charitable company in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in the UK, including the FRC's Ethical Standard, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Conclusions relating to going concern

In auditing the financial statements, we have concluded that the trustees' use of the going concern basis of accounting in the preparation of the financial statements is appropriate.

Based on the work we have performed, we have not identified any material uncertainties relating to events or conditions that, individually or collectively, may cast significant doubt on the charitable company's ability to continue as a going concern for a period of at least twelve months from when the financial statements are authorised for issue.

Our responsibilities and the responsibilities of the trustees with respect to going concern are described in the relevant sections of this report.

Other information

The trustees are responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the Annual Report, other than the financial statements and our Report of the Independent Auditors thereon.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and, except to the extent otherwise explicitly stated in our report, we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If we identify such material inconsistencies or apparent material misstatements, we are required to determine whether this gives rise to a material misstatement in the financial statements themselves. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Opinions on other matters prescribed by the Companies Act 2006

In our opinion, based on the work undertaken in the course of the audit:

- the information given in the Report of the Trustees for the financial year for which the financial statements are prepared is consistent with the financial statements; and
- the Report of the Trustees has been prepared in accordance with applicable legal requirements.

Report of the Independent Auditors to the Members of
The Roddick Foundation (Registered number: 03304866)

Matters on which we are required to report by exception

In the light of the knowledge and understanding of the charitable company and its environment obtained in the course of the audit, we have not identified material misstatements in the Report of the Trustees.

We have nothing to report in respect of the following matters where the Companies Act 2006 requires us to report to you if, in our opinion:

- adequate accounting records have not been kept or returns adequate for our audit have not been received from branches not visited by us; or
- the financial statements are not in agreement with the accounting records and returns; or
- certain disclosures of trustees' remuneration specified by law are not made; or
- we have not received all the information and explanations we require for our audit; or
- the trustees were not entitled to take advantage of the small companies exemption from the requirement to prepare a Strategic Report or in preparing the Report of the Trustees.

Responsibilities of trustees

As explained more fully in the Statement of Trustees' Responsibilities, the trustees (who are also the directors of the charitable company for the purposes of company law) are responsible for the preparation of the financial statements and for being satisfied that they give a true and fair view, and for such internal control as the trustees determine is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, the trustees are responsible for assessing the charitable company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the trustees either intend to liquidate the charitable company or to cease operations, or have no realistic alternative but to do so.

Report of the Independent Auditors to the Members of
The Roddick Foundation (Registered number: 03304866)

Our responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue a Report of the Independent Auditors that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs (UK) will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

The extent to which our procedures are capable of detecting irregularities, including fraud is detailed below:

- Identify and assess the risk of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purposes of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the company's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and the related disclosures made by the directors.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of the directors' use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to event or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors report to the related disclosure in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

A further description of our responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements is located on the Financial Reporting Council's website at www.frc.org.uk/auditorsresponsibilities. This description forms part of our Report of the Independent Auditors.

Use of our report

This report is made solely to the charitable company's members, as a body, in accordance with Chapter 3 of Part 16 of the Companies Act 2006. Our audit work has been undertaken so that we might state to the charitable company's members those matters we are required to state to them in an auditors' report and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent permitted by law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the charitable company and the charitable company's members as a body, for our audit work, for this report, or for the opinions we have formed.

In view of amounts involved these costs are not reallocated to individual charitable projects. These costs also include governance costs that comprise all costs involving the public accountability of The Foundation and its compliance with regulation and good practice. These costs include costs related to statutory audit.

Grants offered subject to conditions which have not been met at the year end date are noted as a commitment but not accrued as expenditure.

Computer equipment	- Straight line over 3 years

TAXATION

Restricted funds - these are funds that can only be used for particular restricted purposes within the objects of the Foundation. Restrictions arise when specified by the donor or when the funds are raised for particular restricted purposes.

The remaining funds held by the Foundation are unrestricted funds which are available for use at the discretion of the Trustees in furtherance of the general objectives of the charity.

FOREIGN CURRENCIES
