STRUCTURE, GOVERNANCE AND MANAGEMENT

Governing document

The charity is controlled by its governing document, a Deed of Trust, and constitutes a limited company, limited by guarantee, as defined by the Companies Act 2006.

Recruitment and appointment of new Trustees

All Directors of the company are also Trustees of the charity, and there are no other Trustees.

The Board has the power to appoint additional Trustees as it considers fit.

Organisational structure

All Directors of the company are also Trustees of the charity, and there are no other Trustees. All connected with the Spiro Ark continue to be saddened at the death of William Frankel, our late chairman. William's constant support for our work from the early days of the Spiro Institute was of enormous importance and we miss him greatly.

The Board has the power to appoint additional Trustees as it considers fit.

Risk management

The Trustees actively review the major risks which the charity faces on a regular basis and believe that maintaining reserves at current levels, combined with an annual review of the controls over key financial systems, will provide sufficient resources in the event of further adverse conditions. The Trustees have also examined other operational and business risks faced by the charity and confirm that they have established systems to mitigate any significant risks.

OBJECTIVES AND ACTIVITIES

Objectives and aims

The Charity is constituted as a company limited by guarantee, and is therefore governed by a Memorandum & Articles of Association. The Charity is registered with the Charity Commission.

The Charity's object and its principal activities are:

- (a) To advance the education of the public in the study of and research into the Jewish experience, and especially to encourage the widespread teaching of Jewish and Israeli History, Culture and Languages (website: www.spiroark.org).
- (b) The dissemination of the results of such study and research, both in the United Kingdom and overseas.

There is one full time Director, one part-time Director and one full-time secretary/assistant plus a number of part-time assistants and volunteers, all of whom effectively manage the administration of the Charity. In addition, we have an excellent team of teachers.

The work of the Spiro Ark has considerably expanded and we have worked with the cultural departments of a number of foreign embassies- Poland, Lithuania, Hungary, Romania, Slovakia and the Czech Republic. We should also mention our earlier association with the United States Embassy to celebrate the 85th birthday of Aaron Copland.

In January 2015 the Spiro Ark jointly organised an important concert at the Polish Embassy to commemorate the Holocaust. We have just recently been invited by the Slovak Embassy to have yet another event with them on the next Holocaust day.

The Spiro Ark's programme of activities has likewise considerably expanded and is in much demand by synagogues of different denominations, from Hampstead Garden Suburb Synagogue and the Central Synagogue off Portland Place to the Liberal Jewish Synagogue in St.Johns Wood. The Spiro Ark has also established strong links with a number of Jewish and Israeli bodies such as Harif, the organisation dealing with the history and culture of Jews from Arab lands and Meretz.

Development, activities and achievements:

The Directors and Trustees consider the performance of the Charity during the year to have been the most successful year yet, having started with the Spiro institute in the early 1980's and having them begun to introduce them fresh ideas that have since made such an impact on the Jewish communities both in this country and the USA.

As far as our language teaching is concerned, which comprises Hebrew lessons at all levels, as well as Yiddish, this continues to attract students.

Some three years ago we were asked to be responsible for the major language department of JW3. We are pleased to say that this worked extraordinarily well from the outset and greatly helped to put this new Jewish Centre on the communal map, as has been fully acknowledged by the CEO of JW3, Mr Raymond Simonson: "You (Spiro Ark) have made an amazing contribution to JW3's impact and have been a major key success of our (JW3) first two years".

However, due to the merger of this organisation with the former Spiro Institute, now known as the LJCC, we were asked to seek alternative accommodation, despite our clear success at JW3. Mr Simonson writes: "Our partnership with the Spiro Ark has been a really important one to me ever since I sat at a meeting nearly three ago discussing how we wanted to approach teaching Ivrit at JW3. We had a big decision to make at some point between three or four options, of how to take this forward and it was considered that I had to bring the Spiros onto JW3 from the very beginning. I felt confident that we could forge a partnership for the benefit of the community and that it would be a big success. And it has been a tremendous success on many levels. I am thrilled that JW3 will continue to produce and host the annual Spiro Lecture for many years to come in your honour....I would like to express my thanks to you for all your wonderful work at JW3 and wish you luck for your continued teaching in the community."

The resulting unanticipated move of the Spiro Ark has in fact proved surprisingly successful, allowing the Spiro Ark for the first time to widen its activities in many new centres around London. Examples of such activities are musical events by national and foreign musicians addressing topics such as "the Jewish Violin"; Likewise performances, such as "Songs of Ashes" by the renowned composer Julian Dawes, sensitively dealing with the subject of the Holocaust. The first performance was jointly hosted by the Polish Embassy and the Spiro Ark.

There have also been visits to theatres by large groups of Spiro Ark students and followers, for discussions organised at the end of the play with the Writers, Directors and Cast. In addition, there have been many unique films on Jewish subjects, with discussions following with the Director. We have recently calculated that over the 35 years since the Spiros started their Jewish educational programmes, there have been more than 1,000 well-filled public gatherings on subjects of Jewish interests, all aimed at encouraging Jews to delve into the miracle of their unique continued existence.

Due to all of the above, the principals of the Spiro Ark have been awarded an annual Tribute Lecture in appreciation for radically changing the map of Jewish historical and cultural activities both in this country and overseas.

Public benefit

The Trustees have carefully considered the public benefit requirements and their duty to ensure that they are compliant with them. They feel that the activities as detailed below, more than adequately, satisfy the public benefit requirement.

The Trustees continue to operate within the confines of the charity's objectives namely in respect of the advancement of the education of the public in the study of and research into the Jewish experience, and especially to encourage the widespread teaching of Jewish history, culture and languages.

Volunteers

WE ARE EXTREMELY GRATEFUL TO THE VERY MANY VOLUNTEERS WHO CONTINUE TO ASSIST THE CHARITY IN NUMEROUS WAYS.

FINANCIAL REVIEW

Reserves policy

The Trustees consider that the present level of reserves and funding is adequate to support the continuation of the operation of the Charity.

FUTURE DEVELOPMENTS

The Spiro Ark is aiming to continue to develop its work for the benefit of the Jewish community with the help of its excellent and inspiring staff and volunteers. To a great extent however the success and scope of this expansion will depend on increasing the financial assistance we receive from our many small supporters.

INDEPENDENT EXAMINER'S REPORT TO THE TRUSTEES OF THE SPIRO ARK

I report on the accounts for the year ended 31 December 2014 set out on pages six to twelve.

Respective responsibilities of trustees and examiner

The charity's trustees (who are also the directors for the purposes of company law) are responsible for the preparation of the accounts. The charity's trustees consider that an audit is not required for this year (under Section 144(2) of the Charities Act 2011 (the 2011 Act)) and that an independent examination is required.

Having satisfied myself that the charity is not subject to audit under company law and is eligible for independent examination, it is my responsibility to:

- examine the accounts under Section 145 of the 2011 Act
- to follow the procedures laid down in the General Directions given by the Charity Commission (under Section 145(5)(b) of the 2011 Act); and
- to state whether particular matters have come to my attention.

Basis of the independent examiner's report

My examination was carried out in accordance with the General Directions given by the Charity Commission. An examination includes a review of the accounting records kept by the charity and a comparison of the accounts presented with those records. It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosures in the accounts, and seeking explanations from you as trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit, and consequently no opinion is given as to whether the accounts present a 'true and fair view' and the report is limited to those matters set out in the statements below.

Independent examiner's statement

In connection with my examination, no matter has come to my attention:

- (1) which gives me reasonable cause to believe that, in any material respect, the requirements
 - to keep accounting records in accordance with Section 386 and 387 of the Companies Act 2006; and
 - to prepare accounts which accord with the accounting records, comply with the accounting requirements of Sections 394 and 395 of the Companies Act 2006 and with the methods and principles of the Statement of Recommended Practice: Accounting and Reporting by Charitieshave not been met; or
- (2) to which, in my opinion, attention should be drawn in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.
