Allotment of shares

- 9.1 The directors of the Company will have full control of the shares which are part of the Company's authorised share capital. During the five years from the date of incorporation they may allot these shares and other relevant securities to people on terms and conditions as they see fit. However, the directors may not issue more shares than are comprised in the authorised share capital. After the five year period the directors may allot the shares under any agreement or offer to do so which was made before the five year period ended. This authority may at any time be revoked, varied or renewed by ordinary resolution of the Company.
- 9.2 Unless there is a special resolution to direct otherwise, the Company will offer shares which the directors propose to allot and which are not part of the Company's authorised share capital when the Company became a corporation to the shareholders of the Company in proportion to the number of shares the shareholders already hold. The Company will offer these shares by notice for a limited period of at least 14 days after which time the offer will lapse. After that period the Company will offer any remaining shares to those who have already accepted all the shares the Company has offered them in proportion to the number of shares held before the original offer was made.

There may be shares left over which the Directors cannot offer under the above provisions except as fractions. - 15. The directors may use all the powers of the Company to borrow unlimited amounts of money on terms and in such a way as they think fit. 16. Alternate directors are not entitled to any payment from the Company. The Company may pay them part of any amount the Company would otherwise pay to the person who appointed them if that person instructs the Company to do so in writing. The first sentence of Regulation 66 of Table A regarding the rights of the alternate director to receive remuneration for his services is modified accordingly.
