Turnover

Turnover represents net invoiced professional fees, recoverable expenses incurred on behalf of clients and disbursements, excluding Value Added Tax. Due allowance has been made for accrued income.

Short leasehold	- in accordance with the property

Work in progress comprises recoverable expenditure incurred on behalf of clients where such expenditure could not have been invoiced to those clients at the end of the financial year.

Hire purchase and leasing commitments

Assets obtained under hire purchase contracts or finance leases are capitalised in the balance sheet. Those held under hire purchase contracts are depreciated over their estimated useful lives. Those held under finance leases are depreciated over their estimated useful lives or the lease term, whichever is the shorter.

The interest element of these obligations is charged to the profit and loss account over the relevant period. The capital element of the future payments is treated as a liability.

Rentals paid under operating leases are charged to the profit and loss account on a straight line basis over the period of the lease.

Revenue recognition

The company's fee structure varies according to the nature of the projects being undertaken. Where projects are undertaken on a time-cost basis, wherever possible, fees are charged during the month following the month in which the work is undertaken. Where projects are undertaken against a schedule of payments, then fees are issued in accordance with that schedule of payments.

5 REVIEW OF THE YEAR

Our client range continues to be large multi-national corporations to private clients. The company has continued to build on its specialism in the retail field executing and designing stores for many of the best known luxury brands. In parallel, we now have a strong presence in the residential market with recently completed prestigious apartment developments in London's West End. In addition we have a continuing developing portfolio of work for private clients in both apartments and private houses.

Now employing ten staff, the company is focused on providing a client centred service with a team of highly skilled professionals. We offer a complete architectural design and practice management solution from concept to execution, the emphasis remaining in the creation of appropriate and carefully considered design solutions for all aspects of the project.

During the year the company achieved a turnover of £770K despite the onslaught of the recession, the latter causing a significant drop in new projects over the first few months of the year. Naturally, this impacted temporarily on cash flow resulting in a number of cost-cutting measures. However, we are delighted to report that since then a number of substantial new engagements have been achieved and the company is in a strong position to weather the recession.
