REPORT OF THE DIRECTORS

Gulf of Mexico oil spill

The Gulf of Mexico oil spill has had and could continue to have a material adverse impact on BP as a group, and consequently may also have an adverse impact on BP LPG UK Limited

There is significant uncertainty in the extent and timing of costs and liabilities relating to the Incident, the impact of the Incident on the reputation of the BP group and the resulting possible impact on the company's ability to access new opportunities. There is also significant uncertainty regarding potential changes in applicable regulations and the operating environment that may result from the Incident. These increase the risks to which the group and therefore the company are exposed to. These uncertainties are likely to continue for a significant period. Thus, the Incident has had, and could continue to have, a material adverse impact on the group's business, competitive position, financial performance, cash flows, prospects, liquidity, shareholder returns and/or implementation of its strategic agenda, particularly in the US.

The BP Group recognized charges totalling $40.9 billion in 2010 and a credit of $3.7 billion in 2011 as a result of the Incident. The total amounts that will ultimately be paid by BP in relation to all obligations relating to the Incident are subject to significant uncertainty and the ultimate exposure and cost to BP will be dependent on many factors. Furthermore, the amount of claims that become payable by BP, the amount of fines ultimately levied on BP (including any potential determination of BP's negligence or gross negligence), the outcome of litigation, and any costs arising from any longer-term environmental consequences of the oil spill, will also impact upon the ultimate cost for BP. Although the provision recognized is the current best estimate of expenditures required to settle certain present obligations at the end of the reporting period, there are future expenditures for which it is not possible to measure the obligation reliably. The risks associated with the Incident could also heighten the impact of the other risks to which the group is exposed as further described below. Further information on the Incident, is included within the BP group Annual Report and Form 20-F for the year ended 31 December 2011.

- make judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent,

10. Pensions

The company is a participating employer in the BP Pension Fund. The BP Pension Fund is separately funded and provides benefits that are computed based on an employee's years of service and final pensionable salary. The level of contributions made to the BP Pension Fund is the amount needed to provide adequate funds to meet pension obligations as they fall due, and are based on pension costs in respect of all members of the fund.

The obligation and the cost of providing pensions is assessed annually using the projected unit credit method. The date of the latest actuarial valuation for the BP Pension Fund was 31 December 2008 and the date of the most recent actuarial review was 31December 2011. During 2011, employer contributions of £259m (2010 £245m) and member contributions of £19m (2010 £23m) were made to the BP Pension Fund.

The BP Pension Fund is both operated in a way that does not allow the individual participating employing companies in the Pension Fund to identify their share of the underlying assets and liabilities of the fund. Therefore the company's payments in respect of pension current service cost have been accounted for as an expense as if they were contributions to a defined contribution scheme and no further FRS 17 disclosures are made in these accounts.

The results of the most recent actuarial valuation of the BP Pension Fund as at 31December 2008, have been reflected into the disclosures required by FRS 17 for the year ended 31 December 2011, and are included within the accounts of the ultimate parent undertaking BP p1c

In the BP plc accounts, pension plan assets are measured at fair value and pension plan liabilities are measured on an actuarial basis using the projected unit credit method and discounted at an interest rate equivalent to the current rate of return on a high-quality corporate bond of equivalent currency and term to the plan liabilities. Actuarial gains and losses are recognised in full in this company's statement of total recognised gains and losses in the period in which they occur

The BP pension fund also includes a number of defined contribution schemes and the company is a participating employer in one of these, the BP Retailing Pension and Life Assurance Scheme The assets of these schemes are held separately from those of the Company in an independently administered fund
