The Windfall Centre Limited

Trustees' Report

The trustees, who are directors for the purposes of company law, present the annual report together with the financial statements of the charitable company for the year ended 31 March 2022.

Business Description

The Windfall Centre is a charity providing the services of trained and experienced professionals supporting the emotional health, welfare and development of children and families. We provide therapeutic support through a variety of proven therapy interventions for children and young people suffering distress arising from trauma, abuse or adversity. We also provide training and consultancy, and supervision to other practicing Play Therapists.

History of Business Development

Windfall was started as a private not-for-profit business in 2011, by two of the current team who identified a need for these services in Mid Wales. The business has grown significantly in recent years and became a registered charity in 2016. The therapeutic team has expanded from an initial two therapists, to seven, allowing the service to expand geographically as well as including additional expertise.

Location

Located in Llandrindod Wells, the Centre initially provided services for children and families in Powys but, due to increased demand, is now also active in South and West Wales as well. Therapeutic programmes have developed and now include Play Therapy, Filial Therapy, Art psychotherapy and Tele-Play Therapy. The Nurturing Families programme draws on Play Therapy to support mothers and little ones under five to strengthen the caregiver relationship and promote secure attachment. Other programmes have included outreach provision in both north and south of Powys to address long travelling times for some children to attend the Centre. Finally, in response to the dearth of other services for troubled young adults in our area, our Creative Counselling service remains on offer.

Our Purpose and Values

The purposes of The Windfall Centre are to:

- Support the emotional and mental health of children and young people through the delivery of play therapy and related therapeutic interventions
- Encourage and support the parents and carers of the children referred to us by establishing close, non-judgemental relationships offering advice and guidance as appropriate
- Support referring professionals and the wider professional network through consultation, training, seminars and bringing in expert speakers.

Our Aspiration and Values

We aim to be the leading non-statutory provider of Play Therapy and related therapeutic interventions for children and young people in the areas we serve; which currently include Powys and South and West Wales.

The Windfall Centre is founded on the passionate belief in the right of all children and young people to develop to their full potential and where that development needs a helping hand, they are entitled to the highest professional service.

We base our philosophy in the UN Convention of the Rights of the Child and especially Article 3 which states that every organisation involved with children should work towards what is best for each child. Our vision accords with the Welsh Government's Well-being of Future Generations Act 2015. Our Safeguarding policy and procedures similarly conform to the Safeguarding Procedures Wales 2020.

The Windfall Centre Limited

Trustees' Report

Business Structure

The Windfall Centre is a charitable company limited by guarantee with a board of directors who also act as Trustees of the charity. The charity is governed by its Memorandum and Articles of Association dated 2016. It is registered as a charity with the Charity Commission. None of our Trustees receive remuneration or other benefit from their work with the charity. The chair of the Trustees is nominated by the Trustees and Trustees serve for a minimum of 2 years.

Management of the Service

The day-to-day management of the service is delegated by the Trustees to the Service Manager. All the therapists operate on a self-employed basis, being paid according to face-to-face therapy hours, and occasional meetings. The Service Manager is now a full-time post and provides invaluable admin and financial support to the team and the trustees.

The Windfall Centre Premises

The Windfall Centre is located in Llandrindod Wells, being central to the county of Powys. The Centre's premises are welcoming, informal, comfortable and discreet. The playrooms are spacious, well equipped, light and airy. A young person's counselling room has recently been established. A kitchen and waiting/Family room are available and refreshments are freely available for parents/carers while they wait for their child. There is also a larger Meeting Room which is used for Trustee meetings, training and seminars. A recent addition is the basement which has added an Art Psychotherapy room, a Playroom fitted with cameras and an observation room for Filial Therapy. This basement has allowed The Windfall Centre to provide disabled access via a ramp and every accommodation is made for those who require assistance to access the service. The premises are rented and there is a good relationship with the landlord who is very supportive of the service.

The service in South and West Wales is currently delivered from a rented room in a private therapy centre in Cowbridge as well as a private therapy space in Abergorlech. All the premises used by The Windfall Centre are carefully assessed as to health and safety, ease of access and lone working considerations. A wide range of toys and equipment is available at each location.

In 2022 there are plans to open three new outreach clinics in Newtown, Hay-on-Wye and Llanelli to respond to the needs of the clients.

Nature of governing document

The Windfall Centre is a company limited by guarantee governed by its Memorandum and Articles of Association dated September 2016. It is registered as a charity with the Charity Commission.

The financial statements comply with the Charities Act 2011, the Companies Act 2006, the Memorandum and Articles of Association, and Accounting and Reporting by Charities: Statement of Recommended Practice applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102) (effective 1 January 2015).

Recruitment and appointment of trustees

As set out in the Articles of Association the chair of the trustees is nominated by the Trustees. Trustees serve for a minimum period of two years. All members are circulated with invitations to nominate trustees prior to the AGM advising them of the retiring trustees and requesting nominations for the AGM. When considering co-opting trustees, the Board has regard to the requirement for any specialist skills needed, for example, Treasurer.

Trustees' Report

Induction and training of trustees

New trustees undergo orientation to brief them on their legal obligations under charity and company law, the Charity Commission guidance on public benefit, and inform them of the content of the Memorandum and Articles of Association, the committee and decision-making processes, the business plan and recent financial performance of the charity. During the induction they meet key employees and other trustees. Trustees are encouraged to attend appropriate external training events where these will facilitate the undertaking of their role.

Arrangements for setting key management personnel remuneration

The directors consider the board of directors, who are the Charity's trustees, and the senior management team comprise the key management personnel of the charity in charge of directing and controlling, running and operating the Charity on a day to day basis. All directors give of their time freely and no director received remuneration in the year. All the Play Therapists operate on a self-employed basis, being paid according to face-to-face therapy hours, and meetings by agreement with the Service Manager.

Relationships with related parties

None of our trustees receive remuneration or other benefit from their work with the charity. Any connection between a trustee or senior manager of the charity which may result in a conflict of interest must be disclosed to the full board of trustees in the same way as any other contractual relationship with a related party. In the current year no such related party transactions were reported.

Key Personnel

Our Patrons:

Gillian Clarke was born in Cardiff in 1937 and now lives in Ceredigion. A poet, playwright and tutor on the MPhil in Creative Writing at the University of Glamorgan, she is also president of Ty Newydd, the writers' centre in North Wales which she co-founded in 1990. She was the inaugural Capital Poet for Cardiff 2005-6. In 2008 she was appointed National Poet of Wales, and in 2010 received the Queen's Gold Medal for Poetry.

Our Staff:

Clare Hurford – Service Manager

Clare joined the team in August 2019 as Finance/Admin Officer, moving into a Service Manager role in 2021. With a background in accounting, Clare has taken on more responsibility in this time including implementing new accountancy software, re-designing a website and arranging the opening of new clinics. Clare has joint overall responsibility for the efficient running of The Windfall Centre and its therapeutic services, accountable and reporting to the Board of Trustees.

Clare takes all opportunities to positively promote The Windfall Centre and the services it provides; especially by creating and establishing excellent professional relationships within the team and with Patrons, external agencies, clients and commissioners as well as donors and prospective donors.

Clare actively promotes an organisational culture valuing equality, respect, co-operation, diversity and inclusion, shared learning, professional development, best practice and aspiring to the highest professional practice in delivering services to the children, young people and families referred to the service.

A large aspect of the Service Manager role is to apply for funding to help self-referring families access the therapeutic support they need, and this year Clare has successfully secured over £43,000 in grant funding for The Windfall Centre.

Outside the office Clare enjoys caring for her three young children, reading and watching films. (employed full-time)

Sue is a qualified teacher and has a diploma in Counselling Children and Young People and a certificate in Solution Focused Brief Therapy. She is a BACP registered counsellor currently working with young people in Further Education. She also teaches in adult education, specialising in communication and counselling skills and emotional literacy. Sue has worked for and managed a mediation service in Powys and adjacent counties, resolving community and neighbourhood disputes.

Becky Webb – MSc Play Therapy, BSc Biology and Geography, QCF Level 5 Diploma in Leadership for Children's Care, Learning and Development

Play Therapist

Becky is a recently qualified Play Therapist accredited by the British Association of Play Therapists (BAPT). She has also completed Level 1 Theraplay® training and can use this approach within her practice.

Becky has worked with children and families over a number of years before becoming a play therapist including management of an Early Years setting, working as a family support worker and co-producing community projects with families to alleviate in-work poverty. Becky's experiences in these roles led to her wanting to develop her professional skills in working therapeutically with children and families.

In addition to her role as a play therapist at the Windfall Centre, Becky is also an experienced coach with Riding for the Disabled Association (RDA) and works therapeutically with horses to support children and young people's wellbeing.

Student Play Therapists – We have continued our close association with the University of South Wales Play Therapy course and were pleased to be able to offer a third year placement, which led to an associates role at The Windfall Centre. Students are supervised and managed within our service and offer a valuable extension to our provision, allowing children who might not be able to acquire full funding to still receive a service commensurate to their identified therapeutic needs.

Our Trustees:

Marilyn Hinks (Chair of Trustees)

Marilyn has spent most of her professional life teaching students with additional needs. For 13 years she was the SENCO at Welshpool High School where she also taught psychology to the 6th form. When she "retired" Marilyn worked as a Family Engagement Co-ordinator alongside families who needed support in accessing local services and helping vulnerable students settle into school and enjoy their schooldays. She now works with colleagues facilitating support groups for parents with children of all ages. Her experience of working with families has made her realise just how important the role of the Windfall play therapists is in supporting vulnerable young people.

David Jones

David has worked in publishing, public relations, advertising and marketing. He was latterly Head of Marketing for the Welsh Development Agency and then the Welsh Assembly Government where he promoted inward investment, supported economic development and raised the profile of the Welsh regions. David claims no expertise in play therapy but first became interested in emotional development when he took a part-time course in pastoral relationships in London in the 1980s. He moved to Mid Wales in 1988 and lives near Llanidloes. He is married and has two daughters.

Dr. Andy Scrase

Andy became a trustee on the recommendation of an art therapist friend who had spent several months volunteering at The Windfall Centre and had been impressed by the high quality help the play therapists provided. Andy is retired but spent half her working life as a general practitioner and the other half as a psychiatrist including many years in Learning Disability. In both jobs she met very many children and adolescents (and adults) whose upbringing had been unsympathetic or actively abusive. Of course, as the years went on the services for children improved but they are now grossly overworked and benefit greatly from the contribution made by The Windfall Centre. She has four adult children of her own.

John Senior (Treasurer)

John retired in 2011 after 17 years in industrial R&D followed by 3 years at the Medical Devices Directorate in London, which led to 17 years auditing medical device manufacturers world-wide (on behalf of Lloyds Register Quality Assurance) for their compliance with relevant ISO Standards and European Directives. For the last 3 years of this period John was self-employed, and so became familiar with accounting spreadsheets. For 8 years up to 2016 John was treasurer of a local Quaker Meeting, and for the last 6 years he has been treasurer of a Quaker Special Interest Group. In November 2016 he became treasurer of Mid Wales Area Quaker Meeting, which financially is of similar size to The Windfall Centre.

Sue Hitch

Sue has worked alongside and supported Children and Young People and their families for many years since moving to Wales. Sue is now retired but ran her own, small, private Counselling practice in Brecon for several years. She was the school Counsellor working in Powys for Barnardos, and also worked as Counsellor for schools in the Blaenau Gwent area. Sue was the Counsellor for Dyfed Powys Police for the south of the county for a number of years. Sue was a trained mediator, prior to retirement, for a Powys charity. She also spent time supporting women and children for Brecknockshire Women's Aid and Counsellor for survivors of abuse for New Pathways in Merthyr Tydfil.

For several years, both Sue and her husband were Foster Carers for teenage boys. They were both Trustees for Windfall Centre prior to retiring. They withdrew from our Trusteeship role, as they were spending much more time on there Finca in Spain. Sue and her husband missed their Grandchildren too much and decided to return!

Marg Munyard

Marg joined the trustee board for the Windfall Centre in the early months of 2021. She spent the first 17 years of her working life as a secretary/personal assistant in commercial, legal and arts organisations. Alongside her paid work Marg worked as a volunteer in the Women's Health Movement, as a counsellor in a Cancer Support Centre and later as an employee within the NHS as a health advocate. In 1991 she completed an Arts Foundation Course, followed by attending the University of Sheffield where she was awarded a Post Graduate Diploma in Art Psychotherapy. From 1996 until 2012 she worked as an Art Psychotherapist within a sexual abuse service for families; with neuro-diverse adults and with adolescents in residential care within the Looked After Children's sector. In 2008 She completed a 2 year Infant Observation Course with the Tavistock Institute.

She has one adult daughter, is a gardener and a practising Buddhist.

Ange Grunsell

Ange is now retired after a career in education but is an active member of Hay Writers which she chaired for 3 years. She has been a teacher, a teacher trainer and a school governor. She worked in inner city London with teenage truants marginalised by the education system, and in adult literacy, as well as projects challenging racism and gender bias in materials, classroom practice, curriculum and in teacher training. She was director of Oxfam's Development Education programme and a writer and lecturer on the South Bank University international masters course in Education for Sustainability. She was chair of Islington Family Service Unit during a period of change from long term case work to family therapy.

She lives with her female partner near Hay on Wye and enjoys singing, playing tennis and visiting children and grandchildren. She is a volunteer distributor for Zaytoun who support Palestinian farming through imports of olive oil and other produce.

Therapeutic programmes

The main therapeutic programmes we offer are non-directive Play Therapy and Filial Therapy and we anticipate that these will continue to form the core of our service. Programmes are offered following an Intake meeting with parents/carers and/or referring professionals. Play therapy programmes usually comprise 20 weekly sessions plus at least 2 parent/carer reviews. Filial therapy programmes are shorter at 16 weeks.

Play therapy is an acknowledged intervention for children ranging from those who are struggling emotionally to those at risk of deteriorating mental health. It has proved very effective for children with behavioural or other social difficulties and for those trying to cope with major life events such as bereavement, loss or family breakdown. It is a valuable therapeutic tool for children who have suffered major trauma or abuse, eg; children in Care. It can particularly help those with learning or communication difficulties or for whom English is not a first language. Through play and the therapeutic relationship, children can invite an insight into their emotional world, work through traumatic experiences, explore solutions to dilemmas and master their emotions and thoughts.

Filial therapy is a unique therapeutic model, evolved from play therapy, which strives to enhance the child-parent relationship by empowering the carer with new ways to interact with the child. Following instruction and supportive supervision by an experienced therapist, caregivers can then act directly as therapeutic support to their child. This model can be especially valuable to foster and adoptive parents by enhancing the child-carer attachment relationship.

The Nurturing Families Programme draws on Filial Therapy to support mothers and little ones under five to strengthen the mother-child relationship and promote secure attachment. As a pilot programme this service is developing in response to the observations and evaluations of the therapists on a 'what works' basis. The programme is funded by Children in Need for a period of three years from 2017.

The Specialist Counselling service was established as a pilot service in response to a request from the Powys Detached Youth Service (PDYS) and each referral is purchased separately by them. These referrals are for young people, 16 to 25yrs, who are often socially dis-engaged, on the edge of, or already involved in, the criminal justice system and/or who may have mental health difficulties un-addressed by any other service. The demand for this service is low and there have been inevitable difficulties in engagement and in geography. However, we intend to keep the service available while we can.

Art Psychotherapy allows children and young people to express themselves, not only through drawing or painting but in three dimensional creations with clay and many other materials.

The Windfall Centre Limited

Trustees' Report

Tele-Play Therapy helps address children's needs to express the worries and fears that may accompany their experience of isolation with families during the covid-19 pandemic and then the return to a new normalcy. All Play Therapists have; in addition to their academic and clinical training to Masters level, undertaken training specifically in Tele-Play Therapy at advanced level. This has addressed specific safeguarding concerns, contracting and family support as well as the clinical aspects of doing child therapy online.

These new services have proved very valuable in helping us increase the children and young people we can serve and tailoring our interventions more closely to the needs of the child/young person.

Commissioners

Referrals to our service are purchased by commissioners on an individual basis. Our main commissioners are

- Powys Early Help for children needing a service beyond the universal ones, to promote their health or development;
- Powys Children's Services for children who may be on the child protection register as in need of a child protection plan, or children being fostered in the Care System. These children, almost by definition have suffered considerable emotional trauma, abuse or neglect.
- Other local authorities. Recent examples include Carmarthenshire, Pembrokeshire and Swansea.

We also received 75% of private referrals and these are funded either by the parents or from funding secured through grants.

Covid-19 Response and Service Development

Along with the rest of society, we were rocked at the start of the pandemic with how we would navigate a new world. Initially face to face therapy ceased and all Play therapists undertook training in Tele-Play Therapy to an advanced level in order to carry on supporting children and families online. During the lockdown the therapists also provided a telephone support line should families have the need to talk to someone about how their children and families are coping. As restrictions eased and with the help of generous funding we were able to build a Perspex divide in a playroom to develop a COVID safe space and continue with face to face therapy. We decided that the service provided by The Windfall Centre will continue based on the following considerations:

1. Children's reactions to events are very largely influenced by the responses of the adults around them, but also by the wider societal atmosphere. The chaos and uncertainty around schools opening can be a significant source of stress and anxiety to children and young people. If there is additional adult / caregiver anxiety about childcare, finances and work complications, this does not pass by unnoticed by children and young people.
2. Add in the recurring death tolls from the virus and again, adult responses to the fear of the virus, and children can be left worrying about their own health or that of their parents / caregivers. There is also the other subliminal messages that children may infect their loved ones which can cause worry and concern.
3. Under the lockdown conditions, the often overlooked but vital support for many children comes from school staff and other adults external to their family is not available or is only sporadically available.
4. The central approach by our skilled therapists has always been to recognise children and young people's need for stability and predictability, thus conveying a sense of emotional containment and safety. This is needed now more than ever.
5. Similarly, the work that is done with parents and caregivers provides them with support and understanding and the strength to recognise their children's emotional needs. This in turn equips them with the ways and means to respond attentively to their children.
6. Our service addresses the emotional and mental health needs of children and families and in this national mental health crisis our service is vitally needed.

The Windfall Centre Limited

Trustees' Report

Taking account of the increased infectiousness of the new variant and its rapid spread, we reviewed our safety and hygiene precautions and found them to be fully robust. Face-to-Face play therapy and art psychotherapy will therefore continue from our specially adapted playroom at the centre in Llandrindod Wells and in Carmarthenshire. Filial therapy can also be provided at the centre or by video link, and our Tele-play therapy remains accessible. The high level of support we provide to parents / caregivers will also remain available.

The Trustees commend the level of skill and commitment of our Therapists and the support they receive from Clare and Gaby. Again, we extend our heartfelt thanks to them all for the way they continue to support children, young people and families in these extremely challenging times.

We expect to continue delivering our core services and have embed the Nurturing Families service into our regular provision. This was modified in response to findings from the first part of the pilot programme. We would like to widen the service via private referrals or referrals from other agencies eg; GPs, schools, to embrace more children and families struggling with a range of adversities. As there is no ringfenced funding for our service from these agencies, we will be seeking funding from various grant making organisations in addition to tendering for any further contract that may be available from Powys or other local authorities.

We continue to work closely with the University of South Wales and provide placements for student play therapists, especially those who may go on to practice in Wales

Client Profile

The Windfall Centre Limited

Trustees' Report

Children and young people who are experiencing difficulties that could be related to their mental health are usually first identified within Tier 1 services, for example by a teacher, GP or health visitor. Similarly, parents/carers who identify their child as experiencing difficulties will usually first seek help from services at that level. Four tiers comprise the NHS Child and Adolescent Mental Health service (CAMHS). Children and young people with an identified need may be subsequently referred into specialist CAMH services (falling within Tiers 2–4) for assessment and intervention if necessary. The therapeutic services offered by The Windfall Centre fall within Tier 2 and Tier 3 as illustrated below.

Tier 2 practitioners offer consultation to families and other practitioners. They identify severe or complex needs requiring more specialist intervention, assessment (which may lead to treatment at a different tier), and training to practitioners at Tier 1 level. Practitioners at Tier 3 provide a service for children and young people with more severe, complex and persistent disorders. Practitioners include:

- child and adolescent psychiatrists
- social workers
- clinical psychologists
- community psychiatric nurses
- child psychotherapists
- occupational therapists, and
- art, music, play and drama therapists.

As previously indicated, The Windfall Centre works with children where they and/or their parents may be struggling with life events such as divorce or family reconstitution or, at the other end of the spectrum, children who have suffered extremes of abuse and neglect and are severely traumatised. Despite their circumstances these children do not usually reach the threshold for a service from CAMHS. A skilled therapeutic intervention and close working with other professionals is essential in these cases, often, for fostered children, to ensure the child does not experience multiple placements within the Care system.

What makes The Windfall Centre special?

Our Therapists

All the active play and filial therapists are registered with the British Association of Play Therapists and accredited by the Professional Standards Authority. They are all qualified to Masters' level and have all undergone their own therapy as is expected for this high level of training. Our other therapists and counsellor are similarly accredited to their respective professional body. All have wide prior experience working with children and young people in a variety of contexts. In addition to their therapeutic knowledge, the theoretical underpinnings of the team's approach include a clear and nuanced understanding of Attachment theory and neurodevelopment, especially the effects of abuse and early trauma on the developing brain and the child's emotional development. This draws on the work of acknowledged experts such as Bessel Van der Kolk and Bruce Perry amongst many others.

A Team Approach

In contrast to many independent play therapists, child psychotherapists or psychologists working alone in private practice, our staff are a close-knit and cohesive team with a shared ethos in supporting the emotional health of children and families in our areas. In addition to regular supervision and continuing professional development, the therapeutic team meets regularly to share knowledge, experience and practice issues. This builds a consistency of practice and shared skills, without limiting the individual therapist's own style.

Evaluation

Evaluation is at the core of our work, and we seek creative ways to make this meaningful to our service provision and development. Strengths and Difficulties questionnaires are administered on commencement and ending of all therapeutic programmes. Additionally, staff use an internal 'Therapeutic Progress Measure' compiled and rated together with parents/carers to measure progress throughout the programme. Shortly after the end of a programme of therapy parents/carers and the child are invited to give feedback on their experience. (See Appendix)

Value for money

We believe that access to our services and to the professional knowledge of our staff should be as easy as possible. We have a sliding scale of fees for private referrals and offer a free initial Intake meeting for these referrals. This is an opportunity for parents/carers to think together with two therapists to better understand the needs of the child and what might be contributing to the child's difficulties. We automatically offer support and consultation to the foster carers we work with and to the referring social workers, as well as working closely with school staff where necessary.

Public Benefit

The Trustees have considered the Charity Commission's guidance on public benefit. At the end of each programme of therapy, both parents and children are invited to evaluate their experience. The evaluations received have been overwhelmingly positive and illustrate the public benefit of our service. Considering the wider public benefit, the Trustees also recognise that addressing early trauma and adversity can have a later effect in reducing anti-social behaviour and contributing to safer communities as well as building individual resilience.

Additionally, the training, consultation and delivery of seminars and conferences undertaken by our staff, contributes to the professional development of many allied professionals in the wider professional environment with a hoped for knock-on beneficial effect on other services.

Trustees' Report

Policy on reserves

It is the policy and aim of the charity to maintain unrestricted funds, which are the free reserves of the charity, at a level which equates to approximately six months unrestricted expenditure, which equates to approximately £33,000. This provides sufficient funds to cover management and administration and support costs. At the balance sheet date, the free reserves amounted to £11,499.

Financial Situation and Risk management

The trustees have a risk management strategy which comprises an annual review of the principal risks and uncertainties that the charity faces, the establishment of policies, systems, and procedures to mitigate those risks and the implementation of procedures designed to minimise or manage any potential impact on the charity should those risks materialise. The financial sustainability is a potential risk for the charity.

Attention has also been focussed on non-financial risks such as the health and safety of therapists and children and families using the centre. Paramount among these is safeguarding children and young people from risk of abuse, neglect or professional misconduct. They also include the physical safety of staff and centre users as well as professional lone working. These risks are managed by ensuring a robust policy and procedure is in place, and regular awareness training for staff and trustees.

The Windfall Centre is currently receiving income from services purchased by Local Authorities including Powys County Council, Swansea Council and Carmarthenshire Council. Self-referrals are funded by parents and carers with the help of grant funding secured by the Service Manager throughout the year.

The funding from Local Authorities leaves us exposed to the vagaries of social services budgets which are themselves dependant on the wider economic climate. A significant drop in referrals could leave The Windfall Centre struggling to survive. It is a cruel irony that when public sector budgets are being drastically cut, the services the Windfall Centre provides are more needed than ever.

Secondly, it is apparent that many more children could benefit from the services we offer, often as an early intervention, but the funds for this are not available. Few parents can self-fund and The Windfall Centre aims to help in this area by applying for grant funding to raise money for therapeutic support.

Thirdly, out of necessity, we keep our fees to the statutory services as low as is viable in recognition of the constraints on budgets.

These have been the significant drivers in the move to charitable status. The Trustees have addressed these risks by the establishment of a standing 'Finance and Fundraising' sub-committee with the brief to ensure core funding as well as funding for initiatives. This work is guided by a fundraising strategy.

This is our sixth year as an established charity and the figures for the year-end financial situation can be seen at the bottom of the balance sheet attached.

The SWOT analysis below allows a concise view of the internal and external factors pertinent to The Windfall Centre.

Trustees' Report

Credit risk

The charity's principal financial assets are bank balances and cash, trade and other receivables.

The charity's credit risk is primarily attributable to its trade receivables. The amounts presented in the balance sheet are net of allowances for doubtful receivables. An allowance for impairment is made where there is an identified loss event which, based on previous experience, is evidence of a reduction in the recoverability of the cash flows.

The credit risk on liquid funds is limited because the counterparties are banks with high credit-ratings assigned by international credit-rating agencies.

The charity has no significant concentration of credit risk, with exposure spread over a large number of counterparties and customers.

Marketing

The majority of referrals to our service are purchased by commissioners, mostly local authorities, on an individual basis, so the need for the kind of marketing required by manufacturing or commercial service businesses does not arise. Instead, The Windfall Centre undertakes marketing initiatives by targeting influencers and a wide range of local authority, health care and other professionals to persuade them of the benefits of referring children and young people to The Windfall Centre for therapy.

The aim of our marketing activity is to promote The Windfall Centre as a centre of excellence in the provision of play therapy and related interventions in the areas we serve which include Powys and South and West Wales. We currently employ the following marketing tools:

Website

The Windfall Centre website gives a clear indication of the range of therapeutic interventions available from Windfall, demonstrates how they work and how to access them. The site is regularly updated as new information and new programmes become available and is currently being re-designed.

www.windfallcentre.co.uk

Leaflets

There is an individual leaflet available for each therapeutic programme provided by The Windfall Centre, replicating information published on the website.

Conferences and Training

The Windfall Centre has delivered two very successful conference for professionals in the fields of social care and children's mental health, and more would be welcomed. Key note speakers invited to participate included some of the most respected and best-known practitioners in their fields of expertise. At each event, delegates got ample opportunity to meet our therapists and learn about the work of The Windfall Centre.

Social Media

The Windfall Centre maintains a Facebook page and LinkedIn Page with a new blog to be added in July 2022 to the new website.

Community Events

Where indicated, The Windfall Centre personnel provide an active presence at targeted events within the local communities they serve, especially where this might contribute to fundraising.

The Windfall Centre Limited

Trustees' Report

Conclusion

Wales NHS estimates more than 40% of young people in Wales, show risk factors for adverse mental health, 30-40% may at some time experience a problem and up to 25% may have a recognisable disorder. The current Children's Commissioner for Wales, Sally Holland, found in her consultations across Wales that children's and young people's mental and emotional health was the most pressing concern for them.

Additionally, in their first report, the Welsh Adverse Childhood Experience (ACE) and Resilience Study, conducted by Public Health Wales and Bangor University (2018) focussed on mental illness. From their survey of adults in Wales, they identified how individuals who suffered ACEs were at significantly increased risk of mental illness. Compared with people with no ACEs, those reporting four or more were over 3 times more likely to report current mental illness, six times more likely to report lifetime mental illness and nine times more likely to report ever having felt suicidal. In addition to physical, sexual and emotional abuse and neglect, adverse childhood experiences include living in a family with domestic abuse, alcohol and drug related problems and parental mental ill-health.

With a highly skilled team and a committed Trustee group, the Windfall Centre is well placed to expand its therapeutic services and reach more children and young people struggling with many difficult emotional issues.

Trustees' Report

The trustees (who are also the directors of The Windfall Centre Limited for the purposes of company law) are responsible for preparing the trustees' report and the financial statements in accordance with the United Kingdom Accounting Standards (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice) and applicable law and regulations.

Company law requires the trustees to prepare financial statements for each financial year. Under company law the trustees must not approve the financial statements unless they are satisfied that they give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the charitable company and of its incoming resources and application of resources, including its income and expenditure, for that period. In preparing these financial statements, the trustees are required to:

- select suitable accounting policies and apply them consistently;
- observe the methods and principles in the Charities SORP;
- make judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent;
- state whether applicable UK Accounting Standards have been followed, subject to any material departures disclosed and explained in the financial statements; and
- prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is appropriate to restate that the charitable company will continue in business.

The trustees are responsible for keeping adequate accounting records that are sufficient to show and explain the charitable company's transactions and disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the charitable company and enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Companies Act 2006. They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the charitable company and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

Independent Examiner's Report to the trustees of The Windfall Centre Limited ("the Company")

I report to the charity trustees on my examination of the accounts of the Company for the year ended 31 March 2022.

Responsibilities and basis of report

As the charity's trustees of the Company (and also its directors for the purposes of company law) you are responsible for the preparation of the accounts in accordance with the requirements of the Companies Act 2006 ('the 2006 Act').

Having satisfied myself that the accounts of The Windfall Centre Limited are not required to be audited under Part 16 of the 2006 Act and are eligible for independent examination, I report in respect of my examination of your charity's accounts as carried out under section 145 of the Charities Act 2011 ('the 2011 Act'). In carrying out my examination I have followed the Directions given by the Charity Commission under section 145(5)(b) of the 2011 Act.

Independent examiner's statement

I have completed my examination. I confirm that no matters have come to my attention in connection with the examination giving me cause to believe:

1. accounting records were not kept in respect of The Windfall Centre Limited as required by section 386 of the 2006 Act; or
2. the accounts do not accord with those records; or
3. the accounts do not comply with the accounting requirements of section 396 of the 2006 Act other than any requirement that the accounts give a 'true and fair view' which is not a matter considered as part of an independent examination; or
4. the accounts have not been prepared in accordance with the methods and principles of the Statement of Recommended Practice for accounting and reporting by charities [applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102)].

I have no concerns and have come across no other matters in connection with the examination to which attention should be drawn in this report in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.

2 Accounting policies

Summary of significant accounting policies and key accounting estimates

The principal accounting policies applied in the preparation of these financial statements are set out below. These policies have been consistently applied to all the years presented, unless otherwise stated.

Statement of compliance

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Accounting and Reporting by Charities: Statement of Recommended Practice (applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102)) (issued in October 2019) - (Charities SORP (FRS 102)), the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102) and the Companies Act 2006.

Basis of preparation

The Windfall Centre Limited meets the definition of a public benefit entity under FRS 102. Assets and liabilities are initially recognised at historical cost or transaction value unless otherwise stated in the relevant accounting policy notes.

Going concern

The trustees consider that there are no material uncertainties about the charity's ability to continue as a going concern nor any significant areas of uncertainty that affect the carrying value of assets held by the charity.

Exemption from preparing a cash flow statement

The charity opted to early adopt Bulletin 1 published on 2 February 2016 and have therefore not included a cash flow statement in these financial statements.

Income and endowments

All income is recognised once the charity has entitlement to the income, it is probable that the income will be received and the amount of the income receivable can be measured reliably.

The Windfall Centre Limited

Donations and legacies

Donations are recognised when the charity has been notified in writing of both the amount and settlement date. In the event that a donation is subject to conditions that require a level of performance by the charity before the charity is entitled to the funds, the income is deferred and not recognised until either those conditions are fully met, or the fulfilment of those conditions is wholly within the control of the charity and it is probable that these conditions will be fulfilled in the reporting period.

Grants receivable

Grants are recognised when the charity has an entitlement to the funds and any conditions linked to the grants have been met. Where performance conditions are attached to the grant and are yet to be met, the income is recognised as a liability and included on the balance sheet as deferred income to be released.

Expenditure

All expenditure is recognised once there is a legal or constructive obligation to that expenditure, it is probable settlement is required and the amount can be measured reliably. All costs are allocated to the applicable expenditure heading that aggregate similar costs to that category. Where costs cannot be directly attributed to particular headings they have been allocated on a basis consistent with the use of resources, with central staff costs allocated on the basis of time spent, and depreciation charges allocated on the portion of the asset's use. Other support costs are allocated based on the spread of staff costs.

Charitable activities

Charitable expenditure comprises those costs incurred by the charity in the delivery of its activities and services for its beneficiaries. It includes both costs that can be allocated directly to such activities and those costs of an indirect nature necessary to support them.

Support costs

Support costs include central functions and have been allocated to activity cost categories on a basis consistent with the use of resources, for example, allocating property costs by floor areas, or per capita, staff costs by the time spent and other costs by their usage.

Governance costs

These include the costs attributable to the charity's compliance with constitutional and statutory requirements, including audit, strategic management and trustees' meetings and reimbursed expenses.

Taxation

The charity is considered to pass the tests set out in Paragraph 1 Schedule 6 of the Finance Act 2010 and therefore it meets the definition of a charitable company for UK corporation tax purposes. Accordingly, the charity is potentially exempt from taxation in respect of income or capital gains received within categories covered by Chapter 3 Part 11 of the Corporation Tax Act 2010 or Section 256 of the Taxation of Chargeable Gains Act 1992, to the extent that such income or gains are applied exclusively to charitable purposes.

Tangible fixed assets

Individual fixed assets costing £500.00 or more are initially recorded at cost, less any subsequent accumulated depreciation and subsequent accumulated impairment losses.

Depreciation and amortisation

Depreciation is provided on tangible fixed assets so as to write off the cost or valuation, less any estimated residual value, over their expected useful economic life as follows:

Asset class	Depreciation method and rate
Fixtures & Fittings	20% reducing balance
Office Equipment	20% reducing balance

Trade debtors

Trade debtors are amounts due from customers for merchandise sold or services performed in the ordinary course of business. Trade debtors are recognised initially at the transaction price.

Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprise cash on hand and call deposits, and other short-term highly liquid investments that are readily convertible to a known amount of cash and are subject to an insignificant risk of change in value.

Fund structure

Unrestricted income funds are general funds that are available for use at the trustees discretion in furtherance of the objectives of the charity.

Restricted income funds are those donated for use in a particular area or for specific purposes, the use of which is restricted to that area or purpose.
