In the space provided below, please insert a general account of the company's activities in the financial year to which the report relates, including a description of how they have benefited the community.

InformAll's research and other activities are intended to benefit general public and society as a whole, in the UK and beyond, by raising awareness of the relevance, importance and benefits of information and digital literacy. Projects undertaken during the course of 2016 have served this purpose, and have included research/analysis on information know-how and graduate employability and on data management skills. InformAll has sought to disseminate and promote the results of such work, including through publications (commissioned reports, journal articles, an academic book chapter, presentations at conferences, blog pieces and general networking with stakeholders). As the company was relatively young in 2016 and the business still being built, the level of activity during the year was been fairly limited, but has served as a basis for developing future activities and awareness of relevant issues of interest.
