In the space provided below, please insert a general account of the company's activities in the financial year to which the report relates, including a description of how they have benefited the community.

The network members continue to research ancient technologies and undertake experiments to develop their skills and understanding. This knowledge has been passed onto the wider community at a couple of events throughout the year, where workshops were staged for engagement and education.

Partnerships have continued on-line with organisations that promote local heritage, craft skills and countryside awareness.

Due to lock down restrictions very little activity was undertaken with the public, but members benefited from personal researches and practical attempts to further their understanding of ancient skills and methods of production. They have also increased their use of the internet and social media to engage with their audiences and fellow researchers from around the world.
