Company activities and impact

The company has continued to develop, operate and maintain RecipeRadar (<https://www.reciperadar.com>), a free search engine and meal planner available to the public. Between December 2020 and November 2021, RecipeRadar handled more than five thousand recipe search queries, including those performed using an additional 'recipe exploration' view added in early January 2021. The bulk of third-party free and open source software (FOSS) contributions made during development of the service for this accounting period relate to "recipe-scrappers", a community-developed software library that aids retrieval of recipe metadata from web pages. RecipeRadar did not require any additional hardware or infrastructure during this accounting period, and remained largely in maintenance mode throughout. RecipeRadar continues to provide freely available recipe search and meal planning services to the public.
